About the Heritage Centre & Tea Rooms

Healey Dell, Rochdale is an area of outstanding natural beauty, ideal for observing local wildlife. Sat in the heart of Healey Dell, is the Mill House which underwent a period of restoration after becoming a Rangers' Office' to its present Heritage Centre and Tea Rooms. The Healey Dell Heritage Centre and Tea rooms opened its door to the public on Good Friday 2013.

Since 1824, this building (previously known as the Healey Hall Mills) was home to a number of families including Ashton's, Butterworth's, Byrons, Chadwicks, Gartsides, Halliwells, Healeys, Holts, Schofields, Tweeddales amongst others . This building was later used as the munition's factory administrative office in the 1940-1943s . There is still a well-preserved air raid shelter/bunker in the basement with a secondary escape hatch.

Today the Heritage Centre & Tearooms are run by Lisa Mok and her volunteers/employees who have maintained and significantly improved the Edwardian Themed Venue. The Heritage Centre acts as the focal point of information to visitors and customers alike. This Edwardian splendour has several bone-china pottery displays, rooms lit with magnificent chandeliers. The nature of the dell and its surroundings are reflected by the paintings, photographs and picture galleries in its tea rooms.

A significant amount of the profits raised by the tea rooms goes back into the development of its facilities and information resources. We hope you enjoy the ambience, quality of food & more importantly friendly & welcoming service.

Our Afternoon Teas—A total Bliss & pure Royalty

Is there any way to experience a truly memorable meal than having an afternoon tea in such a fine setting as this, full of Edwardian charm, featuring chandeliers and food served on a beautifully laid table with fine China pottery and with the backdrop of sweet Spodden water flowing through the Healey Dell? Two outdoor heated shelters allow a spectacular view of the river Spodden, surrounded by nature, the sound of birds, and a backdrop of rapids from the river all add to the ambience of a perfect English Afternoon Tea setting.

Listed in the following is a range of afternoon teas to suit your taste, dietary requirements, and budget. You are truly spoilt for choice.

Our Afternoon teas are freshly made and must be pre-booked in advance (at least 24 hours). However, there may be some limited availabilities on the day. Please ask a staff member for more information. All our afternoon teas are served in bone China.

Limitations: Food images in this menu is for illustration purposes only. As all our products are freshly prepared and individually made they may vary in appearance when served. Please also note, that the management may alter the choice of fillings and variety of cakes served based on the seasonal availability of ingredients. Should this pose a problem, please speak to a member of staff in advance before placing an order?
